

McKinney Wyson-Joplin Tenth Annual Young Artist Competition For Pianists

Welcome to the McKinney Wysong-Joplin Eleventh Annual Young Artist Competition for high school pianists.

This event begins on Friday evening, April 17, 2009 with a dinner at the Heard-Craig historic house.

A recital by our artist/judge will be held in the Heard-Craig Performance Center beginning at 8:00 p.m. The remainder of the weekend is devoted to the students, with a competition that awards significant scholarships as well as a weekend of master classes, receptions and camaraderie.

We welcome Steven Glaser as our artist/judge this year and look forward to a weekend of inspiring music, educational opportunities and exciting performances from all our young artists!

Giving and Volunteering

The McKinney Musical Arts Society is a 501(c)3 non profit corporation, founded to educate and entertain through classical music. Your generous, tax-deductible donations are vital to the continuance of concert and educational activities.

We rely heavily on the community for financial support. Ticket sales account for less than half of the McKinney Musical Arts Society revenue. Your donation represents an investment in your own community. Through your participation you can help ensure the endurance of a quality tradition that everyone in the community can enjoy

Corporate Giving

The McKinney Musical Arts Society welcomes contributions from the business community to support the work of our organization. Contributions can be targeted at specific programs or towards the implementation of the McKinney Symphony's overall mission. Depending on the level of giving, contributors receive recognition as Season Sponsor, Corporate Partner or Business Associate in concert programs and on the McKinney Symphony website.

To discuss opportunities in corporate giving, please contact Dr. Roy Austin at 972-562-4998.
